

Faculty Review of Open eTextbooks

The California Open Educational Resources Council has designed and implemented a faculty review process of the free and open etextbooks showcased within the California Open Online Library for Education (www.cool4ed.org). Faculty from the California Community Colleges, the California State University, and the University of California were invited to review the selected free and open etextboks using a rubric. Faculty received a stipend for their efforts and funding was provided by the State of California, the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation, and the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation.

Subject Matter (30 possible points)	N/A (0 pts)	Very Weak (1pt)	Limited (2 pts)	Adequate (3pts)	Strong (4 pts)	Superior (5 pts)
bthe content accurate, error-free, and unbiased?						Х
Does the text adequately cover the designated course						V
with a sufficient degree of depth and scope?						^

Does the textbook use sufficient and relevant examples to present its subject matter?				х
Does the textbook use a clear, consistent terminology to present its subject matter?				х
Does the textbook reflect current knowledge of the subject matter?				х
Does the textbook present its subject matter in a culturally sensitive manner? (e.g. Is the textbook free of offensive and insensitive examples? Does it include examples that are inclusive of a variety of races, ethnicities, and backgrounds?)	х

Total Points: 25 out of 30

Please provide comments on any aspect of the subject matter of this textbook:

- Of all the books I have reviewed thus far this one is clearly superior.
- The subjects are presented clearly and with precision. The "Chemistry in Everyday Life" is exactly what is needed to keep a student's attention and retention.
- This book can be used from "first experience with chemistry" through a second year course.
- Images are excellent. I have no information on test banks but in my opinion test banks are for lazy teachers. Very good chapter questions.

Instructional Design (35 possible points)	N/A (0 pts)	Very Weak (1pt)	Limited (2 pts)	Adequate (3pts)	Strong (4 pts)	Superior (5 pts)
Does the textbook present its subject materials at					х appropriate reading levels for undergrad use?
Does the textbook reflect a consideration of different					х
learning styles? (e.g. visual, textual?)					Λ
Does the textbook present explicit learning outcomes					х
aligned with the course and curriculum?					^
Is a coherent organization of the textbook evident to the						х
reader/student?						^
Does the textbook reflect best practices in the instruction						х
of the designated course?						^
Does the textbook contain sufficient effective ancillary materials? (e.g. test banks, individual and/or group					Х activities or exercises, pedagogical apparatus, etc.)
Is the textbook searchable?	Х

Total Points: 26 out of 35

Please provide comments on any aspect of the instructional design of this textbook:

- Well organized.
- I think a little too much attention was paid to various quantum chemistry and higher order bonding details than is normally found at this level but easy to assign around it if not desired.

Editorial Aspects (25 possible points)	N/A (0 pts)	Very Weak (1pt)	Limited (2 pts)	Adequate (3pts)	Strong (4 pts)	Superior (5 pts)
Is the language of the textbook free of grammatical, spelling, usage, and typographical errors?						x
Is the textbook written in a clear, engaging style?						Х
Does the textbook adhere to effective principles of design? (e.g. are pages latid0out and organized to be clear and visually engaging and effective? Are colors, font, and typography consistent and unified?)						х
Does the textbook include conventional editorial features? (e.g. a table of contents, glossary, citations and further references)						х
How effective are multimedia elements of the textbook? (e.g. graphics, animations, audio)	х

Total Points: 20 out of 25

Please provide comments on any editorial aspect of this textbook:

- Very attractive illustrations.
- Written in reasonably colloquial English (it is chemistry after all).
- Among the least number of typos and such of the books I have reviewed thus far.
- Lots of references to various sites (internet, etc.) for more detailed explanations.

Usability (25 possible points)	N/A (0 pts)	Very Weak (1pt)	Limited (2 pts)	Adequate (3pts)	Strong (4 pts)	Superior (5 pts)
Is the textbook compatible with standard and commonly available hardware/software in college/university campus student computer labs?						х
Is the textbook accessible in a variety of different electronic formats? (e.gtxt, .pdf, .epub, etc.)	х
Can the textbook be printed easily?				Х
Does the user interface implicitly inform the reader how to interact with and navigate the textbook?				х
How easily can the textbook be annotated by students and instructors?				х

Total Points: 14 out of 25

Please provide comments on any aspect of access concerning this textbook:

Overall Comments

If you were to recommend this textbook to colleagues, what merits of the textbook would you highlight?

 The overall structure of the book, i.e. the numerous examples on principles in real life, attractive writing style (not overly pedantic), great illustrations, solid end-of-chapter questions, the organization of the subject matter.

What areas of this textbook require improvement in order for it to be used in your courses?

Not much.
