

Faculty Review of Open eTextbooks

The California Open Educational Resources Council has designed and implemented a faculty review process of the free and open eTextbooks showcased within the California Open Online Library for Education (www.cool4ed.org). Faculty from the California Community Colleges, the California State University, and the University of California were invited to review the selected no/low cost and open eTextbooks using a rubric. Faculty received a stipend for their efforts and funding was provided by the State of California, the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation, and the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation.

While the multimedia elements are not embedded in the textbook, they are available on the Public Speaking Project's website. The layout uses a newsletter design, which looks a bit crowded at times but nicely breaks up the text into manageable chunks. Quotes, images, and text boxes also reinforce content and break up chunks of large text. Kind of seems that this website is under construction. Lots of things don't work.

How easily can the textbook be annotated by students and instructors?		X

Total Points: 7 out of 30

The site as is, is difficult to navigate and then with the PDF chapters (which appear to contain the breadth of the content) not working, seems confusing.
